OHIO FARMERS REDUCE LOANS

Substantial Decrease Shown in Annual Amount of Mortgage Indebtedness.

By The Associated Press.

COLUMBUS, May 26—The mortgage indebtedness in Ohio on farms has been decreased during the last year with most of the decreases occurring during the last six months. The amount of new loans closed during the present year up to date have been very small and many of the outstanding mortgages have been reduced either by large or small amounts. The federal and joint stock land banks in Ohio are almost inoperative and the insurance companies have done only a very small percentage of their usual mortgage business. The inability of Ohio farmers to obtain money for farm lands is inconvenient, but there is a general sentiment among farmers to reduce borrowing in every possible way and meet the expenditures from current incomes.

Loans closed in Ohio by both the federal and joint stock land banks amounted to only $250,000 during the first three months of 1930 and the total joint stock land bank loans closed amounted to only about $60,000 during the same period. No definite figures seem to be available on the life insurance mortgages closed in Ohio, although it is generally known that only a few companies are making loans on farm by the Ohio Farm Bureau here.

The bulletin states further that the significance of the small volume of loans closed during the first quarter of this year is shown by comparison with the amount of all loans closed since the beginning of the federal and joint stock land bank systems.

On March 31, 1930, there had been 8,315 federal land bank loans closed in Ohio and 8,053 joint stock land bank loans closed. Federal land banks have closed a total of $37,801,450,000 in loans and the joint stock banks have closed a total of $37,801,660. This is a grand total of $70,350,000 which has been used by Ohio farmers under the federal farm loan system in both of its branches.

The government system has been held back by the condition of the bond market, which has practically stopped the sales of federal and joint stock land bank loans. Conditions are somewhat improved for federal land bank loans, but it is hardly likely that the joint stock land banks will be able again to enter the field actively within the near future.

The $250,000 of new loans made in Ohio during the first three months of this year were made largely from repayment money from borrowers.

This Week's Attractions. Theater News and Gossip

Chester Morris as "Sergeant Grischa" Is Outstanding Attraction at Marion Theater; "High Society Blues" at Palace; Mae Murray in Talkie Debut at Ohio.

BY HALLIE HOUCK

One of the most talked-of pictures in some time, "The Case of Sergeant Grischa," has been booked for Wednesday and Thursday at the Marion. The picture has aroused comment wherever it has been shown because of the daring of the plot.

Chester Morris, who has risen from the ranks since "Alibi," and did "Sergeant Grischa," before his latest triumph in "The Divorcee" with Norma Shearer, plays the lead role of "Grischa."

Chester Morris

Reading so much about the picture brings to light a drift of this strange story which involves Morris, Betty Compson, Jean Hersholt, Alec B. Francis and Gustav Von Seyffertitz. Herbert Brennon, who has turned out some of the best pictures from Hollywood, directed this war picture, which some have described as an epic.

The picture is laid in Russia in 1917, with Sergeant Grischa Paprotkin of the Russian Army escaping from a German prison camp at Navarischy, Poland. He meets "Babka," (Betty Compson) and she shields him for several months, but his longing for home dominates him and he goes through enemy territory posing as a dead Russian soldier. He is captured, classified as a spy and condemned to death as Bjuscheff, the man whom he is passing for. The bitter struggle between a general of the army and General Schieffenzahn, (von Seyffertitz, commander of the German forces on the eastern front, to bring about the destiny of "Grischa," brings the picture to a dramatic and unusual end.

ANOTHER natural color outdoor picture, "Under a Texas Moon," has been made, and the Marion will show it Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. The cast looks excellent: Frank Fay, Raquel Torres, Myrna Loy, Noah Beery, Fred Kohler, Armida, Moon Maris and Tully Marshall.

HERE'S one that doesn't sound familiar, but that doesn't mean it hasn't been made. "Hot Rhythm," at the Marion next Friday and Saturday, features Alan Hale, with Kathryn Crawford. This is posted as a dramatic romance of love in Tin Pan alley. The press sheets advertise that Anita Loos should be pleased with the show, for it proves the titles of her two best known books. All through the picture the gentlemen of the cast prefer blonde, but nevertheless, just as the petite Anita informed us in the name she gave to her treatise on modern Miss Goldilock, "they marry brunets." Josephine Dunn is the blond commotion in the show and Kathryn Crawford, a brunet, walks off with the man.

Farrell and Gaynor at Palace

That lovable team, Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell, are back in their newest, slickest vehicle, "High Society Blues." Many Marion talkie lovers have gone to Columbus to see the picture, and their enthusiasm is like a tidal wave. It's at the Palace Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

Janet Gaynor

What a cast these two have working with them, too. William Collier, Sr., Hedda Hopper, Lucien Littlefield, Louise Fazenda and Joyce Compton. Song hits? "I'm in the Market for You," "Eleanor," "High Society Blues," "Just Like a Story Book." Some way or other, Janet and Charles remind their audiences of being a fairybook pair.

"High Society Blues" is adapted from a short story by Dana Burnet which recently appeared in a leading nickel magazine and details the troubles of a wholesale grocer from a small town who sells his business to a chain-store corporation for several millions and then tries to crash the exclusive social set of Westchester county, New York.

In former pictures Janet has either been very poor and Charles has been very rich, or vice versa, or both have been very poor, but in their latest picture both are unusually wealthy, although there is a wide gap in their social positions.

* * *

ANOTHER grand smash, "The Devil's Holiday," opened at the Palace yesterday to play for the last times tonight. One of the office men on vacation saw the picture in another state and when he looked over the outlay of pictures for the week at the theaters, snatched at "The Devil's Holiday" with, "Sa-a-y, I'm going to see that picture again. It's great!"

But Nancy Carroll should be enough to cause a boxoffice rush, and with Phillips Holmes, Hobart Bosworth, James Kirkwood, Paul Lukas and Ned Sparks, well we won't account for damage to the theater lobby.

Mae Murray Does "Peacock Alley"

DO you ever wonder what Peacock Alley really is? It is that sumptuously furnished promenade in the best hotels, where hundreds of little dramas are enacted daily.

"Peacock Alley" started at the Ohio theater yesterday to run through Tuesday. Mae Murray, star of the picture, has been in the business too many years to remember pleasant'y that she is making another debut, this time in talking pictures. It has been rumored that Miss Murray, the Princess Mdivani in private life, rehearsed her dances for this show for four weeks.

* * *

WEDNESDAY and Thursday nights at the Ohio, Miss Lucile Foreman is presenting her annual senior class play, this year to be Barrie's "What Every Woman Knows." Miss Foreman has created a niche in Marion dramatics that is without the fear of one unsuccessful class play. Each year her audiences are more enthusiastic over the plays.

* * *

In conjunction with the presentation of Ken Maynard's first all-talking and singing western picture, "Parade of the West," Friday and Saturday, Alexander the Great, famous movie dog and World war Red Cross canine, will appear on the stage of the Ohio.

Traffic Death Every Sixteen Minutes.

The aggregate of human lives lost in traffic accidents in the United States last year was 33,000, and the injured numbered 1,200,000. Motor accidents were responsible for 31,000 of the deaths and the injury of 1,000,000 persons. The economic loss resulting from the year's motor accidents was $850,000,000, an increase of $350,000,000 over the loss from the same cause in 1923. While traffic fatalities from all causes in 1929 showed an increase of 8.2 per cent. over the record for 1928, motor fatalities increased 10.8 per cent. Whereas motor accidents were responsible for but 16.5 per cent. of the total of accidental deaths in 1920, the motor-car-caused deaths of 1929 represented thirty-two per cent. of last year's accidental fatalities. On an average, there was one traffic fatality every sixteen minutes of 1929.

Now some comparisons drawn from these figures given out by the National Conference on Street and Highway Safety in Washington for publication Sunday.

The motor fatalities in the United States in 1929 were within 6,511 of the number of the officers and men of the United States killed in battle in the World war, while those injured in motor accidents last year outnumbered, five times over, the 226,622 total of our battle casualties in the same war—37,541 killed, 12,931 dying from wounds and 176,147 wounded or injured. The motor fatalities of the last five years exceeded the deaths from all causes among our troops during the World war, which numbered 126,000, and the number of injured in motor accidents during the same five-year period was over fourteen times our entire casualties in the war, all our losses—killed in battle, dead from wounds or other causes, wounded, injured and missing—having totaled 360,305.

It's hardly understandable how a people so greatly concerned over the horrors of war shows so little concern over the casualties of peace, those resulting from the traffic accidents alone greatly surpassing each year our casualties in the greatest of all wars.

No United States of Europe.

It would hardly be in accord with fact to say that Minister Briand's plan for a United States of Europe is doomed, for the very simple reason that it is as dead as a salt mackerel. It was doomed by the chilliness of the reception given it in Great Britain. Not a word in commendation of it came from the MacDonald ministry, and the papers of London made plain their lack of appreciation of it.

The London Herald, the organ of the Labor government, gave it news notice, and very little of that. The Times editorially expressed the view that any Pan-Europe scheme such as that of the French foreign minister could not be taken as other than a plan directed against the United States and that, far from promoting the peace of the world, it might develop frictions far more menacing to Europe than any at present existing. While Britain will favor any and all endeavors to lower political and economic barriers separating European nations and is always ready to facilitate cooperation among them, the Times went on, she could not be a party to any understanding, agreement or convention from which her dominions, with the exception of southern Ireland, would be excluded, as they would be under the Briand proposal.

"At a time when the loosening of legal and formal bonds between the self-governing parts of the empire has become complete," the Times continued, "the first task of British statesmen must be to secure the constant collaboration needed if it is to endure and prosper. They can not engage in enterprises which, however laudable in themselves, might conflict with the main task and, as was so plainly shown during the naval negotiations, British opinion both here and in the dominions is firmly set against any entanglement in Europe which could commit any member of the empire to indefinite and unforeseen responsibilities."

The News made manifest that the Liberal view is not unlike that of the press mouthpiece of the Conservatives. Its summing-up was that it is just as absurd in these modern days for Europe to endeavor to shut herself up in her own housing it would be for Italy, or Japan, or the British empire to make such an attempt. "The proper study for the future statesman," the News concluded, "is man and not some section of humanity which chooses to fancy itself specially important."

The British attitude, as stated, doomed the Briand project; but Italy gave it its deathblow, the Fascist government refusing to consider it as other than a plan to extend French influence over Europe and the Italian press being a unit in assailing it.

Forges Davanzatti, of Mussolini's grand council, may be taken to have uttered the Fascist sentiment when he said, in commenting on "Briand's Bubble," that France had no right "to propose a European confederation when it had already taken it upon itself to form military alliances." He called the Briand idea "only a bad duplicate of the League of Nations" and "a confession of the League's impotence," and he concluded by saying that a Pan-European league would only cause the United States to withdraw further from European affairs and turn to South America.

Reflecting the general tone of the Italian press, the Picolo, of Rome, asks: "How can you make a Pan-Europe when you can not even settle the Franco-Italian difficulties?" and then makes the very pertinent suggestion: "Better wait until Europe's spirit is better. Before you can unite thirty-eight European nations it would be better to try to compose their differences. If you combine them now you will only succeed in producing an explosive mixture."

But it remainded for Mussolini himself to conduct the requiem service over the remains of the plan, which he opened with his address in Florence, continued with his address in Milan, Friday, and concluded with his impassioned utterances, the day following, in the great square of the same city, to a gathering estimated at 300,000, which interrupted him with cries of "Down with France."

Conjure a United States of Europe in the face of an Italian sentiment such as that!

IT'S GOING TO BE TIT FOR TAT.

Editorial Opinion.

WHO OPPOSES THIS TARIFF?

So many business leaders are springing up over the country protesting against the Grundy billion-dollar tariff bill, it is getting difficult to list all of them, much less quote from them. When these protests of industrialists are added to those of the 1,028 economists and hundreds of editors, it is clear to the most skeptical that this opposition has assumed nationwide proportions.

Surprisingly—or perhaps naturally—virtually all of these opponents use the same argument against the bill—that this upward revision of the tariff will destroy American prosperity.

On top of the statements by Ford, General Motors, Stutz and other companies, a statement was made yesterday by Alvan Macauley, manufacturer of Packard cars and president of the National Automobile chamber of commerce. He explained why our prosperity depends on export trade, now threatened by foreign retaliation:

"Last year the export business of the motor vehicle industry supplied almost two months' employment to all of the men engaged in the production of automobiles * * * and indirectly, virtually every wageearner and producer in the United States benefited through the increased buying power put into circulation by this enormous trade, now so large that it exceeds $500,000,000 in value."

This is the great wealth, rolling into the United States, which the tariff bill is turning away by provoking foreign reprisals, described by Macauley as "the hardest problem confronting the American manufacturer." He proceeded to state the economic law—which not even a Grundy can deny:

"We can not sell if we do not buy. We can not produce if we do not sell. We can not buy in as large measure of our own products if we do not have the added buying power that comes from world interchanges."

So a vote for this tariff bill is a vote to increase American unemployment.

This issue, of course, reaches far beyond the automobile and allied industries. It hits the entire range of our foreign trade, which President Hoover has described as the differential between American prosperity and American depression.

Our total exports last year reached the record-breaking value of $5,250,000,000. Think of the millions of jobs represented by that figure, and the more millions of American families dependent upon that trade.

These jobs already are being wiped out and those families left destitute. Official figures of the department of commerce show that our total export trade during the first quarter of this year fell off twenty per cent. That was under the mere threat of the Grundy bill. What will be the result if the bill actually becomes law—a decrease of another twenty per cent., another billion dollars?

We respectfully suggest to members of congress that, before voting on the Grundy bill, they take one long look at these falling export figures and at the unemployment figures. And, if that doesn't convince them that passage of the bill would be disastrous, we suggest that they glance at the Pennsylvania primary figures by which the voters of that highest of high tariff states have just rewarded the great Grundy himself by dropping him from the senate.—Columbus Citizen, May 23.

That Bugbear Indigestion.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

Indigestion is the bugbear of thousands of persons. They would do almost anything to be restored to good health.

There are many varieties of indigestion or dyspepsia. What is called "acidity" is perhaps the commonest of all. It comes at any age and may last only a few days or it may persist for months. Sometimes it ends in ulcer of the stomach or something worse. That is sufficient reason for avoiding this condition.

There are three symptoms always present in ulcer of the stomach. They are pain, vomiting and hemorrhage; pain is the chief sign of this trouble. Heartburn and constipation, blood mingled with the vomited food, severe pains in the middle of the back and stomach, may indicate ulcer.

Rest is the first remedy for this condition. The patient must have special feeding, but the physician in attendance will see to this. He must direct the treatment.

One of the commonest causes of indigestion is taking food without chewing it properly. Whole pieces of meat and other food are too commonly swallowed without chewing. You are bound to have disturbances in stomach and bowels after such a performance.

Digestion begins in the mouth. For this reason thorough mastication of the food and free mixture with the saliva are necessary to good digestion.

If you properly chew your food, and then have pain in the stomach and belching of gas, that might mean the indigestion is caused by an insufficient quantity or a poor quality of gastric juice.

There may be deficient muscular power in the stomach. This will present an important factor in digestion. This leads to a very common form of indigestion. Sometimes the food is only partly digested. Fermentation and decomposition of food in the stomach result.

There are means of preventing these digestive troubles. But every system of cure calls for a drastic change in the diet, as well as in the eating and living habits.

It is important to have properly balanced meals. Eat sparingly—not too much sugar and starches. Eat easily digested foods and chew them thoroughly. To this end good teeth are essential.

Drink lots of water, and bear in mind that this is a most important part of the treatment. It is only when a proper amount of water is maintained in the system that perfect elimination of the wastes of the body is possible.

Don't keep the hands busily occupied when the stomach and intestines are hard at work. Be relaxed, light-hearted and cheerful. If you are depressed and despondent, other ills follow. If the nervous balance is disturbed, or if the emotions are aroused over every little thing, digestion is almost entirely stopped.

Change your attitude of mind. Change your environment. See a bevy of cheerful friends And change your diet.

See your doctor. The chances are that you are not so badly off as you thought you were, but find out for sure. A good rest and a pleasant vacation can do wonders for you. Try them!

Walter Reed.

BY ARCHIBALD HENDERSON.

The story of the search for the cause of yellow fever and the stamping out of that disease in Cuba, and in tropical countries, is one of the stirring romances of modern science. It is a ghastly, blood-curdling story of willing martyrs to science and ruthless investigators who sternly laid the human victims upon the deadly altar.

The name immortalized in this story is Walter Reed, after whom a great hospital in Washington has been named. But his true monument is the unspoken, but eloquent, gratitude of the human race for rescue from the blight of one of the most deadly of plagues.

Walter Reed was born in Gloucester county, Virginia, September 13, 1851. He was a student for a time at the University of Virginia and later took his degree in medicine at the University Medical college in New York. Although he was appointed assistant surgeon in the army in 1875, Reed's true career did not begin until after he had studied bacteriology under the famous physician and teacher, Dr. William H. Welch, of Johns Hopkins university.

Reed himself soon developed as a teacher and authority in bacteriology, giving lectures on that subject to the young officers of the Army Medical school. This was during the period when he was acting as curator in the Army Medical museum at Washington. So brilliant were Reed's laboratory researches during the next few years that in 1898, at the beginning of the Spanish-American war, he was appointed, along with Dr. Victor C. Vaughan and Dr. Edward O. Shakespeare, to investigate the epidemics of typhoid among the American troops in Cuba.

In 1900 the desperate sanitary conditions in Cuba and the deadly ravages of yellow fever prompted the appointment by the United States government of the yellow fever commission, with Walter Reed at its head. It has been said that "yellow jack" killed thousands more American soldiers than the bullets of the Spaniards killed. It was no respecter of persons, slaughtering indiscriminately members of General Leonard Wood's staff and American privates. Despite the effective carrying out of General Wood's orders to clean up Havana, the scourge continued unabated. It was the greatest yellow fever scourge in twenty years.

At this time it was quite generally believed that a certain microbe, known as Sanarelli's organism, was the cause of yellow fever. Reed went at once to Quemados, studied eighteen cases of yellow fever in the hospital, and made the most exhaustive search for bacilli—but without result. But this complete failure caused Reed to listen to the clamor of the shrewd Dr. Carlos Finlay, of Havana, who deserves to share the laurels of fame with Reed.

For years Finlay had been asserting, largely on the basis of a clever "hunch," that yellow fever was caused by a mosquito. People laughed at him, experts scorned him; Finlay was an "old crank." Reed investigated the matter, verified strange stories, looked into peculiar cases—and concluded that there was something in Dr. Finlay's theory.

This was a deadly, cruel business—with human beings as possible victims led to the sacrifice. It was not possible to give yellow fever to an animal. So it was necessary to have men who would let themselves be bitten by mosquitos that had fed on yellow fever cases. Jesse Lazear and James Carroll volunteered; Carroll recovered from the resultant yellow fever, but Dr. Lazear died, a heroic victim to science.

Soldiers were sent to live in a house filled with cast-off belongings—pajamas, sheets, pillows—of patients who had died of yellow fever; but none contracted the disease. It began to look as if the mosquito were the culprit. Further tests clinched the matter and Reed could pen the memorable words: "The essential factor in the infection of a building with yellow fever is the presence therein of mosquitos that have bitten cases of yellow fever."

As a result of the great sanitary effort which followed, yellow fever was wholly stamped out. Reed, who died on November 22, 1902, is one of the great names in the history of American science. — Copyright, 1930, International Feature Service, Inc.

To tea at Clara Bell Walsh's and Ed Wynn, Oscar Shaw and some others there and walking through the park in the silvery dusk and came upon a man who ask an alms and upon receiving it said: "You may be doing this yourself some day" which I thought unnecessary.

The biggest blow in losing an important job is to pride. Yet years of observation convinces me men who lose such posts—and less through drink or dishonesty—usually go to more important jobs. Most men who reach enviable positions in the world have been given the gate several times. It is not losing one's job, but one's grip that counts. The Way of the World.

BY GROVE PATTERSON.

Clarence Darrow likes to refer to the human-being as a machine which unwinds itself. He seems to think that man inevitably responds in a certain way to stimulus and that he has no free will with which to decide what he ought to do. Well, even the New York Academy of Medicine, which can not be accused of sentimentality, tells us in a recent statement that the human body is far more than a thinking machine.

"The human body," says this statement, "is much more complicated than any man-made machine. Consider the marvel of the brain. It is composed of more than twelve thousand million nerve cells, each of which is a living unit. These cells, grouped in certain definite classes, function in health in an integrated and harmonious fashion to produce that which distinguishes man from all other animals: intelligence.

"The entire nervous system has been compared to an intricate electrical system, and nerves have been compared to nerve cells and wires. In a sense hardly appreciated the comparisons are justified.

"And yet, when we take our most complicated electrical system—the telephone—and compare it with the nervous system it appears like a child's toy boat against a modern ocean going steamer.

"Neither the transmitting nor receiving systems thus far developed in radio can approximate either the human voice or the human ear.

"Television, too, provoke our enthusiasm, but the human eye is an instrument of television of a capacity and intricacy which it is doubtful human ingenuity will ever match. In the light sensitive portion of the human eye, the so-called retina, it has been estimated there are no fewer than 137,000,000 nerve endings.

"But perhaps the greatest wonder is the great abuses which the human body can stand and still carry on."

* * *

The young George Stephenson, one of the men who made the steam engine a reality, pleaded before a hard-headed parliamentary committee for permission to build a railroad between Liverpool and Manchester. The committee argued that the noise would frighten the farmers' cattle. When the inventor declared the day would come when workingmen could travel by train more advantageously than on foot, he was greeted with cries of "fool" and "idiot."

A woman, watching the great Faraday, one of the discoverers of the power of electricity, said: "Of what use is it?"

"Madame, what is the use of a new-born babe?" Faraday replied.

And Faraday, refusing the alluring offers of his friends, turned down money to stay in the laboratory and teach the world more about electricity.

If you have an idea and progress is slow, keep at it. The greatest men have been called crazy.

Do you remember the title of Thomas Brooks Fletcher's lecture—"The Martyrdom of Fools?"

Men have been martyred for being fools and the world has moved forward in a great leap because of their foolishness.

Legion Auxiliary Raises $575 in Poppy Day Sale

THE sum of $575 was netted by members of the Legion auxiliary in their annual poppy sale Saturday. Proceeds of the sale will be used by the organization to carry on its relief work among the families of disabled World war veterans in the city and county.

That the receipts of the sale were gratifying and the cooperation of the public generous, was the sentiment voiced by Mrs. James H. Lymon, chairman of the sale, and members of her teams.

Workers had completed their sales by 3 p. m. and could have continued working had there been more flowers. The proceeds were netted on the sale of 4,500 flowers as the auxiliary followed its custom of reserving 500 poppies to form into wreaths which will be placed on the graves of Marion county's 82 World war veterans.

ONE PRESCRIPTION MADE FAMILY DOCTOR FAMOUS

Seldom has any single act been of greater benefit to mankind than that of Dr. Caldwell in 1885, when he wrote the prescription which has carried his fame to the four corners of the earth.

Over and over Dr. Caldwell wrote the prescription as he found men, women and children suffering from those common symptoms of constipation, such as coated tongue, bad breath, headaches, gas, nausea, biliousness, no energy, lack of appetite, and similar things.

Demand for this prescription grew so fast, because of the pleasant, quick way it relieved such symptoms of constipation, that by 1888 Dr. Caldwell was forced to have it put up ready for use. Today, Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, as it is called, is always ready at any drugstore.—Adv.

MERCHANTS WIN FROM KEYSTONES 6-5

NINTH INNING TRIPLE SCORES WINNING RUN

McCracken Pitches Good Ball for Winners; Locals Batter Out 13 Hits.

BY BOB KIRKPATRICK
Sports Editor, The Star

RESPLENDENT in new scarlet and grey uniforms furnished by the group of local merchants backing the team this season, the Marion Merchants ran their winning efforts to two games in as many starts yesterday afternoon on the Lincoln park diamond by defeating the highly touted Columbus Keystones 6 to 5. A crowd of about 500 persons witnessed the locals in their second victory.

Making good use of a free pass to first base in the opening frame the invaders converted the walk into the first score of the game to take a single run lead for the first two innings. McCracken got over his wildness in a hurry after walking the first man to face him and not another batter got to first by the four ball method.

Marion touched the opposing pitcher for a single hit in the first inning but could not shove across any counters. In the third they clouted Wallace for three solid blows and marked up a pair of runs. The first of a pair of doubles by Alexander brought in the first score. Columbus tightened again in the fourth and held the locals scoreless for the inning.

Unlimbering their big bats in the fifth the Merchants threatened for a time to run away with the game. A walk for Pine and the second double of the afternoon by Alexander marked up another score for the winners. When Wallace finally retired the Marion team they had collected three hits and as many runs to give them a 5 to 1 lead and what looked like an easy win.

Neither team scored again until the ninth. Three hits and four runs for the Keystones tied up the score in this frame. After Marion had let the visitors tie the score McCracken toured over three strikes and fanned Wallace and cut short the Columbus rally.

Baron's Triple Wins

With the fans yelling for another score to win the game Pine flyed out to right field. Alexander then drew his first walk. Price flyed out to right field for the second out. Baron turned himself into the hero by doing a "Frank Merriwell" for three bases to score Alexander ahead of him and win the game 6 to 5.

It was a good ball game all around. Wallace, the losing pitcher, did not seem to have such blinding speed but his curves were hard to hit most of the time. McCracken displayed fine control and a good curve ball. He easily outpitched the opposing hurler. Gilchrist and Williams played good ball for the Keystones. Mackey's work behind the plate for Marion was erratic in the early part of the game but he came out of it in the ball and turned in a good finish.

OHIO STATE TO HAVE VARSITY TANK TEAM

Charters Use of Columbus Athletic Club Pool for Home Meets in 1930-'31.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, May 26—Ohio State University is to have a varsity swimming team in western conference competition next year and Mike Peppe will coach it.

Peppe, well known nationally as an instructor in swimming and diving, is on the faculty of the department of physical education at the university being a graduate of Ohio State university. He will coach the first swimming team ever to represent the university.

The Buckeyes have chartered the pool of the Columbus Athletic club for their home swimming meets next year as the proposed $350,000 gymnasium and natatorium unit will not be completed until late in 1931. It will contain three swimming pools, for the varsity, general use and instruction of non-swimmers. Fifteen hundred spectators will be accommodated around the varsity tank.

ON THE INSIDE

With Bob Kirkpatrick

JUST when John Clark and his Epworth No. 1 Sunday School baseball team seemed to be all set to "go places and do things" in a big way in S. S. League No. 1, sickness interferes and even though it may not knock him out of a pennant it has given his chances a decided setback. First Zig Snyder, his reserve pitcher, was taken ill and was unable to compete. Now that he is nearly well, Clark's ace of the mound, Bob Gamble is stricken with a threatened case of pneumonia. Just how long it will be before Gamble is again ready to ascend the hill is not known. Probably it will be several weeks. Until that time Clark will have to rely on Snyder or if he is unable to play someone else. Who, not even Clark knows. However he refuses to be pessimistic. He thinks someone will arrive who will fill the bill. If Gamble does not get back until late in the season he will have an uphill battle.

Not only does Clark suffer from the loss of Gamble. Fairfield Engineering Co. in the Industrial league may feel the loss of Gamble even more keenly than Clark. Clark has lots of support for his pitcher, Fairfield has a lot of good ball players but they are hardly as strong all around as Clark's team. Who will hurl for Fairfield now is not known. It may mean the loss of several games for Fairfield. It's a tough break for both the Epworth and the Fairfield teams.

MARION baseball fans apparently have been given a semi pro nine that merits their wholehearted support. The Merchants have won their first two games of the season in good style. Perhaps this alone does not stamp them as an outstanding ball club but their spirit and pep will go a long way towards making a successful season for the club. Yesterday they won from the Columbus Keystones, a colored team, in a good ball game. Three weeks ago they beat the Earl Clothiers of Springfield. In both games they have displayed a lot of fight and willingness to work together. We certainly hope that Marion ball fans will give them the support which they justly deserve. They look like a good ball club. They don't quit when the going gets rough which means a lot to any team.

Fielding probable winners in both Sunday School league is becoming a more difficult proposition as the season advances. Tonight we are naming two teams which should win. Please note "should". They may both be beaten. Stranger things have happened. Lee St. should beat the Presbyterians, especially since the latter has lost Dick Walker, one of their pitchers. Forest Lawn should beat St. Paul but St. Paul will not go down without a hard fight. Who will win the Reformed-Wesley game is a toss-up. And so is the Christian-U. B. game. These four should be the best No. 2 league games thus far this season.

The University of Alabama, alma mater of several big league stars, has turned out another likely prospect in Hugh Starling, right handed pitcher who has been signed by Atlanta of the Southern league.

Penn State will meet Harvard in football in 1932. Their last game in 1921 tied 21 to 21.

SPORT SLANTS
By Alan J. Gould

AMONG veteran horsemen, talking of Man O' War, it has always been their contention that the only thing necessary was to stick a boy on his back and let the superhorse run. Man O' War, they say, "ran over" every rival (except one) through the sheer desire and ability to go the routes faster than any other horse of his age.

Gallant Fox is a horse of another color—and temperament. A good, but not great two-year-old, winner twice in seven races and unplaced only once, the son of Sir Gallahad III, horsemen believe, has developed invincible tendencies as a three-year-old chiefly because a complete response to the riding skill of Earl Sande.

This is not unprecedented on the turf by any means. Trainers often find their charges doing better for one rider than another. Horses, they say, are human in their likes, dislikes and fancies. They sulk for one boy where they will ride hell-bent for another. And so it seems that Gallant Fox has found the gallant Sande to his liking.

Unbeatable so far, the combination has a good running start toward equalling the record of Sir Barton, which won the Preakness, Derby, Withers and Belmont Stakes in 1919. Man O'War, in 1920, swept through all these classics but the Derby, for which the super-horse was not entered. Gallant Fox will run in the Withers May 31 and the Belmont June 7.

* * *

THE day before the Derby at Louisville, I talked with Mickey Walker about his great slugging match with the late Harry Greb at the Polo Grounds in 1925, when for 15 rounds these two belted each other all over the place.

"That was as hard a fight as I ever had; at various times we were both 'out on our feet,'" said Walker. "I had Harry 'out' in the second round but he fooled me and recovered. He had me going in the fourteenth but I managed to stick. You know, afterward, we met and had a big heart-to-heak together at the same tavern and talked it all over. I think we had a lot of respect for each other."

That evening, by a coincidence, Walker suddenly found himself in the thick of another knock-down-and-drag-out battle, with a substitute opponent, Paul Swiderski, in the annual Derby eve fistic affair. What most of the boys expected to be a walk turned out to be a terrific battle. Both frequently were on the floor and Walker, saved early by a riotous three-minute intermission, finally went on to win through his sheer bulldog grit.

Somewhere, well-laid plans went astray, for Walker, off his guard completely, had finished training for the bout by playing the ponies for two days at Churchill Downs, getting a manicure and taking it easy around the hotel lobbies.

THE East may not be so consistent in garnering sprint honors but it has a habit of developing most of the country's best mile runners, from Jones, Taber and Kivlat on down to Connolly, Kirby, Cox and Lermond. Bill McKniff, Penn sophomore is one of the best in college now and just the other day an Allentown, Pa., schoolboy, Frank Crowley dashed the distance in 4:21 2-5 for a world's interscholastic record

Selter's Gun Club To Stage Combination Shoot and Fiddler's Contest.

The Selter Gun club will sponsor a combination money shoot and old time fiddler's contest at the Selter's Gun club Wednesday, May 28, starting at 10 a. m. The club's grounds are located five miles south of Marion on Route Four. An entrance fee of $3 will be charged for shooters. There will also be a practice shoot preceding the regular events.

From 5 to 8 p. m. old time fiddlers will entertain the assembly, after which there will be night shooting events. Lunch and shells will be obtainable on the grounds.

Duke university's baseball team was shut out the first time in three years when the Davidson college nine took a 5-0 decision.

ITALIAN DRIVERS IN SPEED TRIALS TODAY FOR ANNUAL CLASSIC

Racing Stars Will Attempt To Qualify Their Mounts for Gruelling Race.

By The Associated Press

INDIANAPOLIS, May 26—Italy's entries in the annual 500 mile automobile race to be run next Friday, held the attention of speedway fans today as they prepared to prove their eligibility to contest for a $110,000 purse.

Baconi Borzacchini and Letterio P. Cucinuotta will place their hopes in two flat, red-colored cars of the same make, one powered by a 16-cylinder motor and the other by an 8-cylinder plant.

Most of the leading American drivers qualified their cars Saturday and Sunday, while the Italians tinkered with minor adjustments and got the feel of the track.

Borzacchini, with a 16-cylinder car that has hit the dizzy speed of 159 miles an hour, was conceded a chance to top the best time made to date in the trials—113 miles an hour. Billy Arnold Chicago youngster, did that to win the pole position last Saturday.

Louie Meyer, 1928 and 1929 driving champion; Peter Depaolo, whose record of 101.13 miles an hour for the local race has stood since 1925, Lou Moore, Tony Gulotta, Shorty Cantlon and other widely known drivers already have qualified. Their cars today were being torn down for a final rebuilding and inspection.

ROOKIE HURLERS IN GOOD PERFORMANCES

Mahaffey of Athletics Turns Back Slugging Yanks; Chagnon Works Well.

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

THE current rookie crop in the major leagues has been unusually good, producing a number of young sluggers who have been showing the older players a few things about hitting the ball, but it has not been particularly rich in good pitchers. It was something of an event yesterday when two of the younger generation of hurlers turned in good games on one afternoon.

Lefty Mahaffey of the Athletics, was the one winner of the two. Making his first start for the world's champions, he turned back the New York Yankees in a neat fashion, stopping their batting spree with a seven hit game to win, 10 to 3.

Leon Chagnon of Pittsburgh pitched well in the second game of the Pirates double header, but he could not cope with the experience of his rival, Red Lucas, and the Cincinnati Reds broke their losing streak with a 4 to 3 victory. Lucas himself scored the winning run in the ninth inning. The Pirates gave Cincinnati its tenth straight defeat in the 19 inning opener by a 6 to 5 score.

Robins Win 14-3

The rest of the day's pitching triumphs went to veterans of at least several years' standing. Adolfo Luque held the new York Giants to four hits in 10 innings as Brooklyn won, 4 to 3, for its nineteenth victory out of 25 games. The Robins, boosters, found one rookie very useful, Gordon Slaffe fielded brilliantly to help out in the pinches.

The projected battle of the National league's strikeout artists in the remaining game yesterday, turned into a slugging match in which neither Bill Hallahan of St. Louis nor Charley Root of Chicago lasted the full game.

St. Louis held the league lead by rallying for four runs in the seventh inning and a 6 to 3 victory.

The fourth National league game, between Philadelphia and Boston, was rained out.

Marberry, Lyons Star

Fred Marberry and Ted Lyons held the hurling spotlight in the American league. Marberry gave the Boston Red Sox only three hits for a 5 to 0 shutout as Washington won its fifth straight game from Boston and its ninth victory in 10 contests.

Lyons pitched his sixth consecutive winning game for the Chicago White Sox, holding the Cleveland Indians to four hits while Chicago pounded out 16 to win, 9 to 1. He also achieved a record unequaled so far with his eighth victory in nine games.

Detroit and St. Louis provided the leading exception to the rule that the pitchers had the upper hand for the day by driving out 28 hits between them as the Tigers won the game, 9 to 8. Detroit used two pitchers and St. Louis four.

Spit is a horrid word, but it's worse if on the end of your cigar

... the war against Spitting is a crusade of decency ... join it. smoke CERTIFIED CREMO!

One of many actual photographs of "spit-tipping" cigar makers. The above picture was taken in Philadelphia, Pa., April 1, 1930. An affidavit from the photographer is on file, showing that this workman used spit in making a cigar.

Over 7,500 cigar factories are registered by the U. S. Government. Over 7,400 of these hand-roll cigars, producing 50 percent of the output. Every hand-rolled cigar—made by American Cigar Co. or anyone else—is subject to the possible danger of "spit-tipping." Certified Cremo is absolutely free from spit-tipping—No Cremo is made by hand.

Certified Cremo is a really wonderful smoke—mild—mellow—nut-sweet! Every leaf entering the clean, sunny Cremo factories is scientifically treated by methods recommended by the United States Department of Agriculture. And its purity is safeguarded along every step of the way by amazing inventions that bind, roll, wrap and tip the cigars!

Metropolitan Opera Singer Is Program Star

ALFIO TEDESCO, tenor of the Metropolitan Opera Company of New York, will be guest artist of the Family Party on Monday night at 8:30 o'clock over Station WEAF, and a coast-to-coast network. He will be accompanied by the orchestra conducted by Don Voorhees which will also play concert numbers.

Tedesco, born in Palermo, Sicily, studied in Milan with the noted Nerry Romano, sang for three years at La Scala, Milan, with the celebrated Toscanini, and at Colon, Buenos Aires; in Russia; at Budapest; in Spain, and the more important opera houses of Italy. His repertory takes in the leading tenor roles in 60 operas; his most noted performances in "Rigoletto," "Tosca," "Traviata," "The Barber of Seville," "Mefistofele," "Boheme" and "Cavalleria Rusticana," the one-act opera of his native Sicily from which he will sing the "Siciliana" on the Monday program. He has just completed his second season at the Metropolitan.

He will sing the Duke's ironic, teasing aria, "Questo E. Quella" from "Rigoletto" in which he boasts of his fickleness; the "Aubade," or song of the dawn from Lalo's opera "Le Roi d'Ys," and the perennial, never dying "M'appari" (Like a Dream) from "Martha."

Land Armament Subject of Talk by McDonald

WITH the interests of the world focused on the naval limitations treaty, land armaments have been forgotten, according to James G. McDonald, student of international affairs, who will discuss this topic in his talk over the WEAF network Monday evening at 6:15 o'clock.

"Recent events have focused so much attention upon naval disarmament or limitation that the public is apt to overlook the fact that for nearly all the nations of the world, land armaments have a greater importance than navies," McDonald points out.

"The cost and the number of men required to equip the world's armies are vastly greater than for the navies. The problem is complicated moreover by the different methods of recruiting and training employed in the various countries, involving potential forces as well as those ready at hand."

AMOS 'N' ANDY

The Why and Wherefore of Buying New Shoes described by AMOS 'N' ANDY

This well-known team have a skit that's a panic. It's called "I'se Regusted" . . . and if you haven't heard it—well, you just haven't laughed yet! Correll and Gosden—the real names of Amos 'n' Andy—have also appeared as the black-faced team of Sam 'n' Henry. They have made some screamingly funny Victor Records under both these names. "I'se Regusted" is one of them! But there's a convulsion apiece in each of the others, too. GET THESE VICTOR RECORDS—EVERY ONE OF THEM! Visit us soon and let us give you a dose of Amos 'n' Andy. You'll feel better for it.

25,000-FOOT DROP MADE BY AVIATOR

Unofficial World's Parachute Record Now Held by Bert White.

By The Associated Press
LOS ANGELES, Calif., May [illegible] Bert White, 27, today held the unofficial world's parachute jump record, the result of a leap yesterday from an airplane as it soared 25,000 feet above the Mojave desert near Lancaster, Calif.

Trusting his life to the silken fabric White dropped from the plane piloted by Earl Gordon and hurtled through the air in what was believed the highest altitude jump ever attempted by man. He said he was unconscious from the time he [illegible] until somewhere in midair, and that he landed 28 minutes after regaining his senses. His parachute was released automatically by a cord attached to the plane.

Some concern was felt for White after Gordon landed and reported that he had been unable to locate the parachute rider in the air. Gordon said he dived and circled the spot where White jumped but the wind evidently carried the parachute away from the course of the plane. The jumper was not located until an hour after he reached the ground. He suffered no effects, except temporary loss of speech.

A sealed barograph, which White carried strapped to his body, will be sent to Washington for official calibration. White hopes to receive credit for breaking the record of 24,402 feet established by Captain W. A. Stevens at McCook Field, Dayton, O., 1922.

The Stars Say-
For Monday, May 26

MONDAY'S astrological forecast is for much substantial progress in all pertaining to lands, property, mining, machinery or agriculture. The should react to fine stimuli after a period of congestion, delay and frustration. There may be some unforseen change of journey of benefit, although there may be some petty annoyances or anxieties of a personal nature.

Those whose birthday it is may expect a year of substantial progress and prosperity in all matters of labor, industry, land or real possessions. An unexpected change or journey may be in store, as well as some petty personal anxieties or worries. A child born on this day may be steady and industrious and should attain possessions by it's own individual work as well as skill and ingenuity.

New Gang Murder in List at Chicago

By The Associated Press
CHICAGO, May 26—Peter Plescia last night went out the gang way—curtained automobile and blazing pistols.

The roar of the killers' car faded into the night, leaving behind in a dark alley leading off West Grand avenue, the form of Plescia with bullets in the brain, the jaw and the shoulder.

Police said Plescia had quarreled with alcohol peddlers over territory. Papers in his pocket indicated that the assassination may have resulted from attempts to "muscle in" on the macaroni manufacturing business.

One of a man's great prides is to look as if he were rich.

25,000-FOOT DROP MADE BY AVIATOR

Unofficial World's Parachute Record Now Held by Bert White.

By The Associated Press

LOS ANGELES, Calif., May 26.—Bert White, 27, today held the unofficial world's parachute jump record, the result of a leap yesterday from an airplane as it soared 25,000 feet above the Mojave desert near Lancaster, Calif.

Trusting his life to the silken fabric White dropped from the plane piloted by Earl Gordon and hurtled through the air in what was believed the highest altitude jump ever attempted by man. He said he was unconscious from the time he leaped until somewhere in midair, and that he landed 28 minutes after regaining his senses. His parachute was tripped automatically by a cord attached to the plane.

Some concern was felt for White after Gordon landed and reported that he had been unable to locate the parachute rider in the air. Gordon said he dived and circled the spot where White jumped but the wind evidently carried the parachute away from the course of the plane. The jumper was not located until an hour after he reached the ground. He suffered no ill effects, except temporary loss of speech.

A sealed barograph, which White carried strapped to his body, will be sent to Washington for official calibration. White hopes to receive credit for breaking the record of 24,402 feet established by Captain W. A. Stevens at McCook Field, Dayton, O., in 1922.

The Stars Say--
For Monday, May 26

MONDAY'S astrological forecast is for much substantial progress in all pertaining to lands, property, mining, machinery or agriculture. These should react to fine stimuli after a period of congestion, delay and frustration. There may be some unforseen change or journey of benefit, although there may be some petty annoyances or anxieties of a personal nature.

Those whose birthday it is may expect a year of substantial progress and prosperity in all matters of labor, industry, lands or real possessions. An unexpected change or journey may be in store, as well as some petty personal anxieties or worries. A child born on this day may be steady and industrious and should attain possessions by its own individual work as well as skill and ingenuity.

New Gang Murder in List at Chicago

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, May 26—Peter Plesc last night went out the gang way—curtained automobile and blazing pistols.

The roar of the killers' car faded into the night, leaving behind in a dark alley leading off West Grand avenue, the form of Plescia with bullets in the brain, the jaw and the shoulder.

Police said Plescia had quarreled with alcohol peddlers over territory. Papers in his pocket indicated, too, that the assassination may have resulted from attempts to "muscle in" on the macaroni manufacturing business

One of a man's great prides is to look as if he were rich.
